

Parent Tip #1

Tips for Families in Supporting Their Children with Disabilities in a "Virtual World"

First, remember that your role is a parental one. Your child needs family.

- Teachers are still teaching, just in a virtual format, and with a different schedule. It can be confusing for students if families try to assume the role of teacher. If you have been a "home school" family before the COVID-19 outbreak, you will still pose significant challenges as outside meetings will likely become virtual ones or not exist at all.
-
- Explain to your child that their teacher is still their teacher, and that you are in communication with the teacher to help them learn at home. While you may feel more pressure with your child at home, try to think of it as a different way of helping your child with learning.

Adapted from Florida Inclusion Network

