

Parent Tip #38

What Are You Saying

- We can use the “pause button” on the TV remote to provide the child with the opportunity to answer a question a TV character may ask one another, then have the opportunity to see how the character really answered the question.
- Watch how you speak. Avoid being critical and shaming. ALL children mimic our behaviors (usually at the most inopportune times).
- When necessary, seek support from outside resources, including guidance staff, teachers, individual counseling and other professionals.
